

Simply Divine Dinner January 30, 2010 6:00 PM

Honoring SUMC's Exemplary Woman Guest Speaker Humorist & Communicator Jenny Broughton

Saginaw United Methodist Church is proud to sponsor, Simply Divine Dinner. The dinner serves as a celebration of friendships both old and new. This event features tables beautifully and diversely decorated by imaginative hostesses/table sponsors from the congregation. The hostess will invite others to join her at her table by selling tickets or as her guest. Each table seats a maximum of 6. The table hostesses secure husbands, boyfriends and other gentlemen to serve as the waiter for their table. Seating for individual ticket sales will also be available.

This event will honor SUMC's Exemplary Woman for 2010. The Simply Divine Selection Committee will seek to find a woman in our congregation who has and continues to live a life of faithfulness and service to God, our church, and others.

No matter how you look at life, Jenny Broughton has the tale to make you laugh. A gifted story teller, her humorous outlook on the most everyday matters - from pulling on panty hose to drying the tears of an awkward teenager-provide insight and inspiration.

What's more, Jenny shares a poignant life story that will make you cry. A teacher by profession, Jenny combines her personal and professional experiences to speak on child advocacy issues before education, business, human service and faith-based organizations all across the country. Through both tears and laughter, the very heart of her ministry carries a message of faith, hope and healing.

Often compared to humorist Erma Bombeck, Jenny takes to the speaking stage with warmth, wit, and wisdom, leaving her audiences ever-changed by her powerful and compelling story. Revealing the innermost thoughts and feelings of a lost and forsaken child, Jenny shares how she discovered over time that love and devotion resides within the hearts of perfect strangers.
